

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

The global Irish Revolution, 1916-1923

(25 June 2018)

Queen's University Belfast

School of History, Anthropology, Philosophy and Politics

For workshop enquiries contact Dr. Darragh Gannon: D.Gannon@qub.ac.uk

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

The global Irish Revolution, 1916-1923

Queen's University Belfast

Old Staff Common Room, 25 June 2018

9.30: Tea/Coffee

9.50: Welcome by Professor Fearghal McGarry and Professor Enda Delaney

10.00-11.15: Panel 1 - Cultural transfers

Darragh Gannon (Queen's University Belfast), Lost in translation: 'Sinn Féin' as bilingual paradigm

Brian Hanley (University of Edinburgh), 'The negro peoples are beginning to realise their powers': Irish consciousness of racial turmoil

Maria Rodriguez (Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona), The Easter Rising: Irish nationalism, a model to emulate for the Catalan national movement?

11.15-12.30: Panel 2 - Networks

Robin Adams (University of Oxford), 'A roll of honour for the Irish race': diaspora finance in the Irish War of Independence

Monika Barget (Maynooth University), Political identities and stereotypes in Irish-American networks of 1916-1922

Maurice Casey (University of Oxford), Gender, radical internationalism and the global Irish revolution

12.30-13.30: Lunch

13.30-14.45: Panel 3 - Discourses

MC Rast (Concordia University), Keeping Ireland in the Empire: the movement to establish an Irish dominion, 1918-1921

Timothy Ellis (Teesside University), International 'respectability politics' and the Irish revolution

Sean Donnelly (Teesside University), Ireland's 'Wilsonian moment': anti-imperialism, the War of Independence and the Paris Peace Conference

14.45-15.00: Tea/Coffee

15.00-16.15: Panel 4 - Borders

Lili Zách (Independent Scholar), 'The first of the small nations': the significance of Central European small states in Irish political rhetoric, 1918-1923

Daniel Purcell (Trinity College Dublin), Internationalising the Irish Question: the North East Boundary Bureau and the global minority

Brian Hughes (Mary Immaculate College), Looking beyond the 'exodus': southern Irish loyalists as refugees, 1920-1930

16.15-17.30: Panel 5 – Scales and Spaces

Jimmy Yan (University of Melbourne), 'A kiss of death'? Revolutionary Ireland and Australian labour radicalism, 1916-1921

Patrick Mahoney (Drew University), "The dirt of Ireland was swept up and dropped in Hartford": an Irish-American microhistory of the Independence period

Síobhra Aiken (NUI Galway), 'I was a rebel in those wild, wonderful, exciting days': women remembering the revolution in the diaspora

17.30: Closing remarks