

The Languages of Covid-19: Implications for Global HealthcareWorkshop 2 (12 February 2021) | Prophylaxis, Policy and Public HealthProgramme

2.00pm Welcome: Steven Wilson and Piotr Blumczynski (organisers)

Keynote speaker: Prof. Lorraine Leeson (Trinity College Dublin)

2.30pm Research Overviews and Discussion

Part 1 (2.30-3.00). The Construction of Language

Catherine Boyle and Renata Brandão, 'Worldmaking in the Time of Covid-19. The Challenge of the Local and the Global'

Wanrug Suwanwattana, 'Between the Global and National(ism): Covid-19 in Thai Public Health Discourse'

Patrizia Piredda, 'War-Metaphors During the Covid-Pandemic. Persuasion and Manipulation'

Loic Bourdeau and V. Hunter Capps, 'SARS-CoV-2 and Discursive Inoculation: Lessons from HIV/AIDS'

Andrea Liebschner, 'The Language of Covid-19 in the Russian Online Media of the Sverdlovsk Region'

Part 2 (3.00-3.40). The Circulation of Language

Jack McMartin, Michaël Opgenhaffen and Luc van Doorslaer, 'The Circulation of Science News in the Covid-19 Era. A Case from Flanders'

Sue-Ann Harding, "'Stay on country, care for family": Translating Public Health Messages in Australia's Remote Aboriginal Communities during the Covid-19 Global Pandemic'

Marlon James Sales, 'A Lockdown by Any Other Name...: Populist Rhetoric as a Translation Strategy in Duterte's Philippines'

Ruqaya Sabeeh Al-Taie, 'The Role of Prophylactic Language used by Cartoonists in Enhancing the Understanding of Covid-19'

Karolien Gebruers, 'The Languages of COVID-19 in Belgium: A Multiparty Perspective on Signed Language Interpreting at Press Briefings'

Robert Adam and Jemina Napier, 'Deaf BSL Users' Access Through the Covid-19 Pandemic'

3.40pm Response: Prof. Leeson

|

3.55pm

Next Steps